

A lot of remarkable things have happened in Sams life. He spent 10 years in prison for accidentally burning down poet Emily Dickinsons house - and unwittingly killing two people in the process. He emerged at age 28 and set about creating a new life for himself - and then watched in awe as the past caught up with him, right at his own front door. As, one by one, the homes of other famous New England writers are torched, Sam knows that this time he is most certainly not guilty. To prove his innocence, he sets out to uncover the identity of this literary-minded arsonist.
