

Telling stories to toddlers as well as reading to them, stimulates their language development and imagination. Each rhyme and story included in this book shows the storyteller how to plan the story session, prepare feltboard materials, toys or other aids and how to actively involve toddlers of 18 months to three years. The book will be valuable to early childhood educators and students as well as parents, grandparents and carers who want to develop storytelling skills. Photos are included of many of the storytelling aids used by the author.
